

Bridget Chase (they/them)

Bridget is a language technologist with nearly 10 years of experience in digital mobilization for Indigenous languages. Bridget is committed to building relationships in order to develop projects that suit specific community needs, engaging with issues that relate to language, technology and social justice.

They have been privileged to work with and learn from Indigenous language champions both locally and globally, while managing the development of digital tools for language documentation, learning and teaching.

Sean Bedford, Principal Business Engineer, Meta

Sean is a Principal Business Engineer at Meta, based in London. His focus is on data and privacy and he helps businesses using the Meta platforms shape and define strategies on how to best use technology for advertising success.

Sean additionally attends on behalf of Meta at several advertising and developer trade bodies including ISBA, the WFA, the IAB, and the W3C to contribute to what we believe the future of advertising technologies should look like.

Ram Mohan, Chief Strategy Officer, Identity Digital

A seasoned executive with a strong strategy orientation, Ram works closely with the CEO, board members, and executives to achieve Identity Digital's long-term vision. Ram served as COO and co-founder at Afiliis, acquired by Donuts in 2020, where he launched the .INFO, .ORG and .IO registries, building the world's second-largest domain name registry.

Ram's previous positions include Co-Founder of TurnTide (acquired by Symantec 2001) and COO of Infonautics (publicly traded Ed-Tech company). His board positions include Global Commission on the Stability of Cyberspace (GCSC) and ICANN (2008-2018). Ram also co-founded ICANN's Security and Stability Advisory Committee (SSAC).

He is an inventor of nineteen U.S. patents in Internet technology, recipient of InfoWorld's 'Premier 100 Technology Leaders' award, a CIO100 honoree, and Guinness World Record holder (2018).

Ram enjoys running (7 marathons and counting), playing with his two girls, and living with his wife in picturesque Bucks County, Pennsylvania.