Alice Jansen: When submitting a question that you want us to read out loud on the mic, please provide your name and affiliation if you have one, start your sentence with <QUESTION> and end it with <QUESTION>. Alice Jansen: Please note that audio is available in other UN Languages: http://london50.icann.org/en/schedule/thu-enhancing-accountability

Bob Ochieng: Audio very good!!

Robin Gross: ICANN Board Chair said accountability is both "inter-dependent" & "inter-related" with the IANA stewardship transition. Hope the CEO heard.

Javier Rodriguez: Mr Chehade said, many times "We want to know who pay to the ones that want accountability as pre-requisite of the transition process, we want to know WHO pays you?"

Javier Rodriguez: His next argument is "Are YOU accountable? Are your constituency fully accountable to its members?".
Javier Rodriguez: He said the same to the GAC members (disregarding that they are pay by their govmts and are fully accountable to their goverments, and ultimately to their citizens.

Javier Rodriguez: So... those arguments can not be used with GAC members but no further reasoning was made.

MarcoH: Hello? Lost audio MarcoH: back
Michael Flemming: What was that MarcoH: sounded like a switch to spanish translation
Robin Gross: more than just "livlihood depending on Internet."
Alice Jansen: When submitting a question that you want us to read out loud on the mic, please provide your name and affiliation if you have one, start your sentence with <QUESTION> and end it with <QUESTION>. Cintra Sooknanan: +1 Steve Cintra Sooknanan: this external accountability must exist Cintra Sooknanan: with the increased remuneration of the board this is necessary randy: this is a business point of view, not societal Cintra Sooknanan: it's a view that is necessary to ensure that board members work efficiently and effectively in the overall community interest iptv.ateneo: can the philippines ask also?
iptv.ateneo: using camera and mic, audio and video?
guest 3: @iptv.ateneo, are you a hub?
iptv.ateneo: yes, we are an interactive hub
Alice Jansen: Philippines hub, please work with Cory when you are ready to go up on the screen. Thank you!
John Poole: I am surprised to see Strickling so vocal and trying to steer the discussion -- will he be here 3 years from now still trying to "run the show"?
Joyce Dogniez, Internet Society: @iptv ateneo can you connect on skype to joycedogniez please guest 3: @Philippines, I got your question we are working on it Javier Rodriguez: <QUESTION> In other room was stated that ICANN can not extend the accountability to the administrators of the ccTLDs because they exist before ICANN. Is this correct? ICANN got the IANA/Postel duties and trustee agreements... so the Board think that the ccTLDs administrators are a separate part or are part of ICANN and are under the accountability obligation too? </QUESTION>
Alice Jansen: Thank you for your question, Javier - we will voice your question in the room.
ISOC Uganda Chapter: What are the key implementation methods that are being use to enhance reachout of ICANN polices and operations in developing countries especially in Africa?
guest 3: @Philippines, are you in the Hangout? We need to touch base with you to get ready for the video iptv.ateneo: yes, we are using Hangout
Joyce Dogniez, Internet Society: @Philippines can you move the camera to whoever will ask the question please?
iptv.ateneo: okay, we are ready to ask a question

iptv.ateneo: for a while Joyce Dogniez, Internet Society: are you ready?
iptv.ateneo: scratch that, we're ready to go next Joyce Dogniez, Internet Society: perfect iptv.ateneo: the one who will be asking is Dr. Celso, Academe iptv.ateneo: thanks!
Joyce Dogniez, Internet Society: one more from the room and then it's you iptv.ateneo: okay, noted
Joyce Dogniez, Internet Society: can you please do a sound test please?
Joyce Dogniez, Internet Society: count to 10
iptv.ateneo: okay
iptv.ateneo: did you hear us?
Joyce Dogniez, Internet Society: you are on guest 3: that's you Javier Rodriguez: <COMMENT> Thanks about the previous question. I just want to note that there are DOUBLE ACCOUNTABILITY for ccTLDs. One, as Becky has stated to their local national laws. The other accountability is in front of the organization that gave, or give, the trustee category to the local administrator of the ccTLD. If ICANN give that responsibility to an organization then that organization, that administrator of the ccTLD, becomes accountable in front of ICANN. Postel stated in RFC 1591: it is for serving communities, don't talk to me about property. So, in my opinion ccTLDs have DOUBLE accountability.</COMMENT> Alice Jansen: Reminder to all participation: If you who would like to make iptv.ateneo: Hello, us participants here in the Philippines will be signing out in a while. The university building is closing in a bit so we need to pack up as well. We thank you all for accommodating us! We very much appreciate also the support you gave us for the interactivity today. Thank you!

guest 3: Thank you for joining us Philippines!

Sivasubramanian M: On the Remote comment from Kenya in response to my comment on Accountability / oversight transition: My comment was brief and probably has not conveyed the suggestion clearly, Please see my comment together with http://forum.icann.org/lists/comments-enhancing-accountability-06may14/pdgdrbgMdsKf.pdf and http://mm.icann.org/pipermail/ianatransition/attachments/20140509/5342bbfa/NTIACommentfromInternetSocietyIndiaChennai3.pdf The idea is to strengthen and balance ICANN within so much so that the actions of ICANN would be well balanced within, with checks and balances within. This would make it somewhat unnecessary to have a separate oversight process,. This is not to say that ICANN is ONLY accountable within, ICANN certainly is accountable to the whole world of Global Internet users. The strengthening and balancing of ICANN from within would make it more and more possible for ICANN to fulfil its commitments to the world :)

Albert Daniels: Thank you from the Caribbean Hub in Trinidad

Alice Jansen: Thank you for your participation! The session archives will be available on this page: http://london50.icann.org/en/schedule/thu-enhancing-accountability
