

INTERNET GOVERNANCE

INSTITUTIONALISATION:

COOPERATION
OR COLD WAR?

HELLO!

I am Olga Kyryliuk

No matter what you do, any country in the world is going to have the ability to set its own rules internally. Any country in the world can pull the plug. It's not a question of technical issues, it's not a question of right or wrong, it's not a question of whether global internet governance is right or wrong. It is just with us.

An aerial, high-angle photograph of a dense urban skyline, likely New York City, viewed from a high vantage point. The image is split vertically down the middle. The left side shows the city's buildings and streets in a normal orientation. The right side is a mirror image of the left, creating a symmetrical, inverted cityscape. A large, dark, rectangular box with a white, hand-drawn border is centered over the image. Inside this box, the text "BORDERLESS SPACE OR BORDERED PLACE?" is written in a white, hand-drawn, sans-serif font. The text is arranged in three lines: "BORDERLESS SPACE" on the top line, "OR" on the middle line, and "BORDERED PLACE?" on the bottom line. The background of the text box is a dark, textured grey, and the white border has a slightly irregular, hand-drawn appearance. The overall color palette is dominated by the blues and greys of the city buildings and the sky, with the white text providing a strong contrast.

BORDERED PLACE?

ADOPT OR RESIST?

IT IS ALWAYS OUR OWN CHOICE TO OPT FOR COOPERATION OR COLD WAR.

THANKS!

Any questions?
